

St. Petersburg, FL, April 30, 2022: ICI Consulting, a bank and credit union core processing advisor, announced today that Tim Cobb has joined the firm as Senior Vice President. Tim brings many years of Core Processing, Credit Union, Banking and leadership experience to ICI. He is an experienced professional with over 29 years in the financial services software industry, including Jack Henry & Associates, Finastra and Fiserv.

“I’m excited to join ICI Consulting and partner with our clients to ensure they have a quality, cost efficient relationship with their core vendor. A financial institution’s core vendor relationship is one of its most complex and costly; fundamentally impacting not only customer and member services but also their financial performance. With their depth of experience in the fintech industry, the ICI team is uniquely qualified to ensure that clients build a winning partnership with their core vendor that withstands the test of time,” said Tim.

“ICI continues to experience unprecedented growth and adding an accomplished advisor like Tim Cobb will allow us to broaden our reach and enhance the service capabilities we deliver to our clients. His exceptional background brings together a blend of both credit union and banking experience as well as core vendor knowledge. Tim will provide a wealth of insight and skills that will continue to position ICI as a critical strategic partner to our credit union and banking customers.” said Greg Schratwieser, Founder and CEO of ICI Consulting.

About Tim Cobb

Prior to joining ICI, Tim worked as Sales Executive with Jack Henry & Associates. In this role, Tim built many strong relationships with credit unions, helping them apply fintech solutions to meet their business objectives, innovate, grow and compete successfully.
